New Teachers Join Faculty

Many new faces among the faculty will greet the students when they return to classes on Monday morning. According to an announcement by Dr. Guy H. Wells, president, fifteen new appointments have been made during the summer months to the college faculty.

Listed among the new appointments were: Miss Mildred Kyle as assistant professor of home economics. Miss Kyle has a B. S. degree from Ohio State University and an M. A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University. Besides teaching in the home economics department, Miss Kyle will also serve as director of the college cafeteria.

Miss Betty Lippman, who holds a B. S. degree in Physical Education from Woman's College, University of North Carolina, has been named an instructor in physical education.

Miss Florence Hartman, a graduate of GSCW, will serve on the college library staff.

Miss Evelyn Rensing, a graduate of the School of Fine and Applied Arts, Pratt Institute, has been named an instructor in the art department.

George Haslam, a graduate of the University of Georgia, was appointed associate professor of social science and journalism. He will also serve as director of the department of public relations.

Named to a position as instructor in secretarial training was Miss Ernestine Melton. She has an A. B. degree from Newberry College and an M. A. degree from Teachers' College.

Miss Bertha Holt, who received her degree from GSCW, has been named as secretary to Dean Ethel.

Greetings to the New Students:

I greet you and welcome you to the campus of the Georgia State College for Women. I sincerely hope that you have had a part in choosing this college as your home for the next four years and that you will not be disappointed in the joys and satisfactions a college career can bring.

First of all, get acquainted with us—help us to learn your name, where you live and some of your friends. We hope that you will resolve to enter the spirit of the college, and that you will carry that resolution into execution.

The world needs more well trained and beautifully developed college women. Perhaps there are too many in the world today who have been to college, but to whom college meant little or nothing. I hope that you will think and plan and develop yourself while in college in order that you may become a happier and more useful citizen.

GSCW Opens Fifty-First Year; Classes Begin Monday

Major Campus Organizations Retreat

Members of the YWCA cabinet, recreation board, upper court, honor council, student council, and faculty advisors returned to the campus Monday after attending the Camp Burton Retreat held this year, September 19-22.

"Our part as GSCW students in the National Emergency Program" was the theme for the retreat. The student leaders thought that they should not only plan the program for the different organizations, but they should also be made to realize an individual responsibility during this world crisis.

Miss Lillian Smith, editor of the North Georgia Review and director of Camp Laurel Falls was the guest speaker. She chose as her subject "Creating the Good Life", which was in the form of a personal analysis.

"Our part as Students in National Defense" was discussed by Lucia Rooney.

Martha Daniel led the discussion Saturday night on "The Advantages that GSCW has to offer her Students."

Devotionals during the retreat were led by Augusta Slappey, Mary Jeanne Everett, and Virginia Parker.

The summer committee for the camp were Martha Daniel, Doris Warnock, Mary Jeanne Everett, and Miss Ethel Adams.

GSCW, now beginning its fifty-first year, has opened with approximately 1,200 students enrolled. Freshmen arrived Tuesday, September 23, and upperclassmen came Thursday. Classes will begin Monday, September 29th.

Tickets Sold For Concert

The Milledgeville Cooperative Concert Association is now celebrating its seventh year. Beginning Monday, October 13, the Association will open its annual drive for memberships at AT GSCW. GMC, the city of Milledgeville and surrounding communities of Sparta, Sandersville, Tennille, Eatonton, Gray, Macon. The association ended the most successful year in its history in May and is looking forward to hearing the best talent the country has to offer.

Available artists who may appear here are as follows: Charles Kullman, tenor; Igor Gorin, baritone, Opera, "Marriage of Figaro"; Mozart; Barrere Trio; Lucy Moore, soprano; Helen Jepson, soprano; Simon Barer, piano; Anatol Kaminsky, violin; Jose Iturbi, piano, and others.

A special invitation is extended to former members of the association, new members of the communities and students of GSCW and GMC to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear these outstanding artists this year. You may buy your tickets now at the Music Building, GSCW, if you wish.

Vocational Institute Set For Oct. 6-7

A vocational Institute on the GSCW campus will be held Oct. 6 and 7 and will feature two outstanding speakers, Mr. Cardwell, personnel director at Rich's in Atlanta, and Miss Marguerite W. Zapoleon from the Department of Education of the federal government.

Mr. Cardwell will speak Monday, Oct. 6, at chapel on the Freshmen from all parts of Georgia and several other states are experiencing a full program of orientation at GSCW this week from Tuesday through Sunday.

After meeting with faculty advisers and student counselors, the new students were entertained in Russell auditorium Tuesday with stunts and singing. Upperclassmen serenaded the freshmen at 11:15.

Mrs. B. B. McCullar addressed the new students at their opening assembly program Wednesday and Dr. Guy Wells, Dean Hoy Taylor, Miss Cynthia Mallory, Dean Ethel Adams, and Martha Daniel gave official greetings.

Following this assembly, study groups were conducted by student counselors in order to discuss the College Government constitution. In the afternoon the psychology test was given in Russell auditorium after which time a tour of the campus was made.

The College Government Association, Recreation Association, and YWCA sponsored an informal dance on the gymnasium roof garden Wednesday night.

Thursday's activities included an English and literary appreciation test, CGA constitution study groups, a French placement test, games on back campus sponsored by the Recreation Association, and a formal banquet. With a patriotic theme, the banquet was given by the junior class in Atkinson dining hall at 7 o'clock. Dr. Wells was the principal speaker. Mr. Lloyd Outland, accompanied by Marjorie Herring at the piano, played the saxophone, and Joyce Slate and Sarah Sims sang a duet.

Friday at 8:30 freshmen registered in Russell auditorium. In the afternoon the mathematics and science test was given. At Nesbit Woods a picnic was given for all students followed by a symphony at 8:00.

Frosh Have Eventful First Days At GSCW

By Betty Park

Wandering around the campus Tuesday, that memorial day for the freshman, we started talking to several of the new arrivals and upon question found that they had many experiences to tell about their arrivals at GSCW, and ideas of the campus.

Having never been the third girl to arrive on the campus in the fall, we can't imagine how it would feel, but this was the experience of Jean Stephens, a freshman from Fort Benning. She got here Sunday and says she wasn't scared—just definitely bewildered.

Jo Tabb, a junior transfer, can top the tale above—she was the first student on the campus. She arrived at four o'clock last Saturday. Mrs. Martin, Atkinson's new housemother, didn't give her time to get scared, lonely or awed. She set her to work making curtains.

Guess where Ruth Owens met several of her new GSCW friends? On the side of the road; her brother mistook a ditch for a grassy shoulder and over the car went. Several other "Jessie" girls to arrive bright and early bound girls stopped and so they met. Original meeting place huh?

Dot Donald is following her sister Ruby's footsteps who graduated from GSCW last year, and good tracks they are too. Dot saw the campus Monday night around nine after thirty-some-odd hours of traveling from New Jersey. "It just looked wonderful—even in the dark," she said.

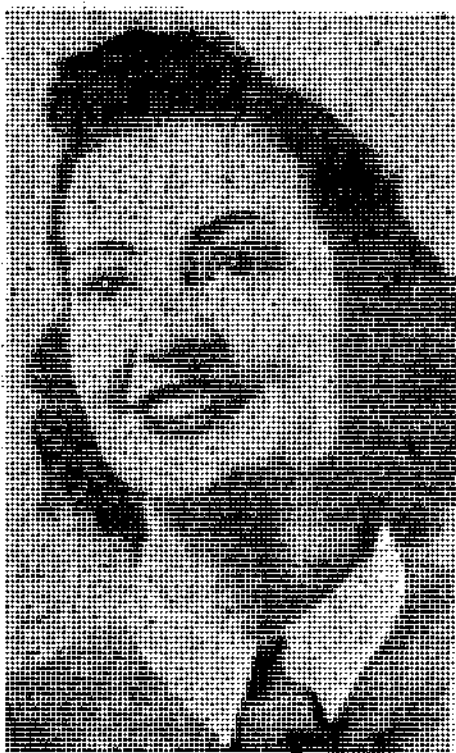

"I must have looked like a bewildered freshman when I arrived," stated Frances Stone, "because everyone who saw me asked if they could help me find someplace or something."

Nancy Perry says her very first impression was a friendly one. Becky Kellam thinks GSCW is "bigger and prettier" than she could imagine in her dreams.

Sarah Welch had two sisters who attended school here and so it is a tradition for the Welch car to arrive bright and early

A New Beginning

When a girl begins a new project, an interesting study, or a different hobby, she starts with enthusiasm. This is the spirit with which freshmen arrived last Tuesday. They and the upperclassmen have the right to feel that they are beginning a new adventure for every fall, whether in a new or the same school previously attended, there is the beginning of a fresh start for good accomplishments.

The new students on the campus bring new ideas and the old ones bring reasoning and understanding from past experiences. When we combine the attributes of both the old and new students we find that our coming year has great possibilities.

We welcome the freshmen, transfer students, and new members of the faculty to our campus. We do not consider our faculty as teachers only; each one is a friend in the real sense of the word. Go to see the faculty members, speak to them, and you will be surprised and pleased to find out how quickly they will remember your name. We want you to know how we as students work with the faculty in making our plans. They give us their ideas about campus problems and we in turn offer suggestions in which they are interested. We highly value each other's opinion. We are proud of our student faculty relationship and will continue this practice in our new year.

But the one bit of advice we can offer you as new students at GSCW is to realize that you have the power in yourself to succeed. You have opportunities offered from all sides for developing your mind and body, but it remains with you as to how well you make your choices. You come to GSCW as new students and the college will reap the glory of your success or failure. It is not only the good fortune of the college but it is your good fortune to be enrolled in a growing and well established institution.

Toward Set Goals

A three-fold goal has been set this year by College Government for the campus after much questioning as to how our campus could be improved by the girls themselves. These three aims were decided upon: scholarship, good manners, and appreciation of arts.

The question arose as to whether or not college students should not have already developed such things as being studious, knowing what to do and how to act and enjoying good music and art. Some of the students have asked that we have more opportunities for development on these lines and that is the reason these three themes have been chosen.

CGA, YWCA, and the Rec Association have made plans this year toward accomplishing these goals. The first is a Vocational Institute which will be held around the first of October. The speakers for the institute are well chosen and it will be an opportunity for you to learn about the openings for girls in the business world. Many new fields are developing for women and you might make a new choice in your profession.

Keep these three aims in mind—scholarship, good manners, and an appreciation of the arts. During the year we hope to develop these lines throughout the campus.

Gadabout

By Blanche Layton

Well, vacation has ended and one more Orientation Week has just about drawn to an end. In spite of the fact that this year's freshmen are just as dumb as every other year's turnout, I've heard numerous persons remark that they were GSCW's cutest class up to date. But don't you be fret, dear fellow seniors, they'll be just as homely as we are when they get to Sanford hall. I'll bet the class will average wool dress. It has long full sleeves and tight cuffs and is trimmed with the resident next to Nesbitt Woods, too.

Everybody had a marvelous summer, but everybody was ready to come back. I suppose that's just a fault in human nature.

Miss Patty Turner had a glorious trip to Mexico. She certainly likes the foreign atmosphere for some reason.

Every girl I've asked about the aurora borealis has answered that she saw the signs last Thursday night. That's good proof that GSCW girls are "star gazers" (tip to Miss Rogers).

Don't forget to purchase your College Theatre ticket right away if you haven't already done so. They're so handy, you know, when you're broke later on and a good play is on. And take it from me, the dramatic department is not asleep when it comes to staging a good show.

Speaking of tickets, you'd better put aside enough for a concert ticket, too. You can't afford to miss one of the concerts.

All of these "Jessies" have helped to wear out plenty of records of "Practice Makes Perfect" this summer, but I suppose Mr. Hall will be supplying the school with "I Guess I'll Have to Dream the Rest" from now on.

The seniors can hardly wait for the code to come through. And their parents can hardly wait for the seniors to come through.

What will the music department do without Miss Horsbrough this year? She's over at Wesleyan, you know.

So much for now and don't get too disturbed about your schedule for the quarter!

A La Mode

Even though the rain seems to be "shooing" everybody's cute clothes inside we managed to find Lulane McBride with a very voguish looking powder blue sport wool dress. It has long full sleeves and tight cuffs and is trimmed with tennis ball buttons.

Helen Powell has an adorable bracelet of daisies and Evelyn Smith has a definitely different necklace of cork balls trimmed with gold headed rust tacks.

Nancy Perry has a very good looking "Sunday-go-to-meeting" dress of draped brown crepe. It is trimmed with fur tails and has a short, three-quarter length fur jacket to match.

Nell Staples has a striking navy blue redingote. The dress is red and white crepe print and the coat is lined with the same material and is reversible.

Josephine Wright came in Thursday night in a good looking red and black, and white gold (coincidence) plaid cotton suit with leather buttons.

Jane Garrett is sporting a white boxed cable stitched sweater knitted by "hers truly". It has the dramatic department is not asleep when it comes to staging a good show.

Sara Bond has a hunter's red velvet jacket with a matching red and blue plaid skirt that she is saving for the first chilly night.

Pierce Harris Speaks Mon. At Chapel

The first chapel program of the year will feature an address by Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Atlanta, an old friend of GSCW and one who is always welcome. Another guest speaker will be Honorable Joe Ben Jackson, a member of the Board of Regents from the sixth district.

The singing will be led by Mr. Max Noah and Dr. R. W. Oakley will be in charge of devotional. At this time new faculty members will be presented.

Y Gives Big Sister Entertainment

The YWCA will get under way with an entertainment Monday night. Each upperclassman taking part will have two freshmen "little sisters". First there will be a skit entitled "It Can Happen Here", by Anne Stubbs, which is an interpretation of the Y. After that there will be a party with Rosanne Chaplin and Carolyn Edwards in charge of the entertainment.

This will serve as the first meeting of the Freshman Y Club.

Music Meet Date Changed

A change in the date of the mammoth high school music festival held here each spring was announced today by Max Noah, chairman of the festival. The date has been set for April 9 and 10, a change from the previous date of April 23 and 24 to avoid conflict with the state GEA convention at Savannah.

A "bigger than" ever festival is in the making this year, according to Mr. Noah. 2300 students were here last year for the two day meet, and well over 3000 are coming this time, he said.

The music festival has grown in importance each year since it begun here, and more and more students have participated each year.

compiled and printed. His description of a Linotype machine, by the way, is quite delightful. Linotypes, for some reason, are as hard to describe to the uninitiate as is baseball. (Try telling an Englishman about baseball.) From this he goes on to discuss various types of news and the manner in which it can be handled, and groups such as labor unions, religious organizations, etc., and why we read crime news, why we cannot agree. With others I hope he is wrong. With man, I agree. Dale has made a strong chapter out of his discussion of the "col-bit unfavorable when he criticizes newspapers for not telling the oring" or distortion of news, not "story behind the crime" in connection with it. I feel that such a complaint is like asking a physician to write the history of not always confined to the court malaria and its treatment down room, you notice.

Ball to be Sponsored By Y Next Saturday

The annual Refugee Ball, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., will be held October 4 in the gymnasium. These dances are given each year to raise money to send a foreign student through GSCW. The students are recommended by the International Student Service.

Miss Cynthia Mallory, director of the Y, states "We feel it helps this school to have an international feeling and since these students could not follow the political beliefs of their own countries, we welcome them here."

This year the student is Gertrude Ehrlich, who is a sophomore from Vienna, Austria. She is the second student to come to the campus under the sponsorship of the Y. Alice Gewitch graduated last year.

The dance will be held from eight to twelve Saturday night, October 4. Admission will be twenty-five cents per person and students may invite dates. There will be four no-breaks and an extra no-break for the dormitory selling the largest number of tickets. Edith Trappell is in charge of the arrangements for the dance.

Seniors Entertain For Transfers

Transfer students were received at open house Wednesday night. The entertainment was given by the seniors.

Also in honor of these students, a bridge party was given in Sanford Thursday at 4 p. m.

First Vesper Service Sunday At 6:30 P. M.

At the regular Vesper services sponsored by the YWCA Sunday night at 6:30, the Reverend Chester Weems, Episcopal minister from Macon, will speak. The devotion-al will be led by Mary Jeanne Everett, president of the Y.

Mrs. C. B. McCullar will speak at the morning worship service Sunday, September 28, at ten o'clock in Russell auditorium. The president of all the denominational groups will be introduced and after the services the upper-classmen will take the freshmen attending to the church that they wish to attend.

on every prescription he writes for quinine.

He thinks the newspaper of the future will concern itself as hard to describe to the uninitiate more with the readers and less with advertisers, will be better handled. He devotes an entire chapter to crime news, analyzing why we read crime news, why we cannot agree. With others I hope he is wrong. With man, I agree. Dale has made a strong chapter out of his discussion of the "col-bit unfavorable when he criticizes newspapers for not telling the oring" or distortion of news, not "story behind the crime" in connection with it. ### Freshmen Will Tour City Sunday

The annual drive over the city for the Freshmen at GSCW is scheduled for Sunday, September 24 at 2:15. It will start from the front of Terrell Hall.

After the drive refreshments will be served the freshmen and transfer students at the home of Mrs. W. M. Miller on Columbia Street.

Mrs. Walter Williams, Jr., chairman of the Telephone Committee and Mrs. Culver Kidd, Jr., assistant, have appointed the following people to assist in the drive.

Mrs. Claude Ray, Miss Margaret Keel, Mrs. H. B. Jennings, Mrs. Billy Fermer Hargrove, Mrs. Billy Tennille, Mrs. Hugh Moss, Miss Elizabeth King, Miss Kathryn Sessions, Mrs. B. A. Willingham, Mrs. J. Miss Mildred Owen, BSU student secretary at GSCW and associate state student secretary led the discussion Wednesday concerning the relationship of BSU to other campus organizations.

Elizabeth Mayes, president of BSU, was in charge of the retreat during which plans for the new school year were made.

Others present were BSU council members, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Massey and Miriam Massey.

Sale of Calenders Is Under Way by CGA

The annual sale of GSCW calendars sponsored by the Student Government got under way Thursday night, Sept. 25 with a tour of the freshmen dormitories. The campaign will be carried on again by dormitories this year but students not contacted in this way are asked to stop by the Student Government office on the first floor of Arts.

The calendars are much the same as last year with a few changes made. There is still plenty of space for all those important events of the next nine months.

The price is 30 cents.

one of the most exciting. After passing the try-outs for form, there are practices to keep up in order to enter the meets. With Miss Billie Jennings as faculty adviser and Flo Finney as president, the Penguins (that's the name of the club) sponsor a smaller club for the girls who aren't quite as good but want to improve.

OUTING CLUB

For you who like long tramps, bicycle rides, skating parties, and steak fry, meet with Mary Frances Scott this quarter when she calls. Get your share of out-of-doors.

FOLK DANCE CLUB

Forget your school clothes, put on a colorful costume and learn the gay dances of America and Europe with Miss Grace Potts, faculty adviser, and president, Martha Munn. It's full of fun!

GOTTILLION CLUB

Do you want to dance your best at the social dances GSCW gives? To do this we suggest that you join this club and let Miss Golf is only one of the sports offered by the Recreation Association. Come get in the swing of it by joining the sports clubs.

PLAY NIGHT

For something to do on Saturday nights, this is tops. Do you like to dance, play badminton, shuffleboard, etc? Come over to the Physical Education building and Gene Staley will have everything planned for you.

Hark! the Old Bell chime again, "Don't Forget Your Parker!"

For School - Parker's SUPER-CHARGED Pen

—More Room for Ink because NO rubber sac, hence a Pen that won't run dry in lectures, tests, exams!

♦ GUARANTEED BY LIFE CONTRACT

Toting books around won't get a student anywhere if his pen runs dry in the classroom. So look before you leap to some problem pen. It will only frustrate your I.Q. on Test-day.

In college after college, coast to coast, the Parker Vacumatic is voted No. 1 by students because of these modern features:

1. Super-charged—with ink to carry over.
2. One-Hand Success Filler—easiest to operate.
3. Television Barrel—shows when to refill.
4. Lubricated Writing—Non-brittle, 14 K Gold Point tipped with oil-smooth Osmium that won't wear scratchy in a lifetime.
5. Exclusive Style—streamlined, Pearl and Jet RINGS.

Go and try it today at any near-by pen counter. But use discretion by looking for Parker's Blue Diamond on the smart ARROW clip. That's our Life Guarantee Contract.

Junior or Sub-deb, $5; Debutante or Major, $8.75. Maxima, $10; Duo-fold, $2.95 and $3.95. Pen and Pencil Sets, $3.95, $5.00, $8.75 and up.

Just Because its Fall, Don't Let All Things Fall

By Ginger Snaps

Webster (what would we do without him!) gives the little four letter word "fall" a generous amount of space in his dictionary. He contributes the following definition: Fall—"to drop freely from a higher to a lower place; to depart from dignified behavior; to enter into a new condition; to pass gradually or passively into some state; to change."

Just as in many words, there are good falls and there are bad falls. Now some GSCW students have had bad falls, for they have applied this word to all those things which the collegiate eye might happen to "fall" upon. Of course, this is wrong and of course one shouldn't carelessly let things "drop freely from a higher to a lower place," so, in order that the welcome and the entertained transfers won't take up the "fall" habit, we will review some past calamities.

The very first day on the campus one allows his "hope we can rent them" books to fall all over the desk, and perhaps on a chair. And then before those study texts are neatly arranged in the desk, carelessly deposited money and keys in the shirt pocket gayly land on the floor.

Curtains rate high in the fall line. They delight in falling at the most inappropriate times; often when rare guests are in the room. Something really should be done to prevent this window trouble.

In the dining hall and in chapel—never in classes of course—there is a tendency to fall down in the chair. This sounds terrible. Rumor has it that these kind of falls won't be taken this season.

Then too there comes the sad and dreary day when the hair just will fall. This is due to three causes: bad weather, laziness, and bad weather. Since the weather isn't under our control, perhaps bobby pins and a comb would help prevent such. They say it's amazing how a neat coiffeur rakes in the compliments.

Last of all, let's apply the definition of "to fall gradually or passively into some state or condition." This pertains to the art of falling in love. Now such is not a bad fall usually, but a very delightful one (so they say). It might be suggested that if you don't let your books, and physical self, and your hair and your curtains fall, that who knows, perhaps, you will find your own little self falling rather than all these inanimate objects.

But remember now, with love as the only exception, a fall always come to those who let things fall in the fall!

Advice to College Girls

(By ACP)

Freshmen co-eds at Massachusetts State College have been advised to "wear a girdle" unless you're a veritable sylph—the day of the hip-swinging siren co-ed is gone.

A booklet of advice published by Isogon, senior honor society, and written by Kay Tully of Southbridge and Mary Donahue of Newburyport, advises not only how to dress but how to act.

On "dating," a major portion of the booklet, the advice is to "hold onto your kisses 'til you find somebody you really want to give them to."

"Don't forget that boys talk about girls . . . and if you 'neck' with one man, all his 'brothers' will know it soon."

Other warnings include: "Don't be possessive. It is the easiest way to lose a good date."

"Don't be too choosy at first. Some fellows can introduce you to some good future dates if you're smart."

And girls—"Don't believe an eighth of what you hear."

Pianist Here In October

The first entertainment program on the college lyceum program for the year will be held on October 29 and 30 when Egon Petri, Dutch pianist, will appear at GSCW, according to an announcement made today by Max Noah, program chairman.

Piano Teachers Will Meet Here

The piano division of the Georgia Music Association will feature a piano clinic to be held at GSCW early in November, according to an announcement from the GSCW music department today.

The clinic, scheduled for November 8, will feature Kathryn Underwood, Albany, as chairman of the piano division of the GMEA, and Mark Hoffman, of Greensboro College, Greensboro, N. C. as clinic director. Over 100 teachers are expected here for the conference and clinic.
